

How It Goes (Buddy Mondlock)

There's a way that you're reaching
There's a way that you touch
When you're not quite sure it'll count for too much
When the one you lay down with
Who you thought you knew
Might just roll away and it's a mystery to you
You puzzle it over
Was it something you did?
Or something forgotten?
Well, which was it kid?
In the morning she'll tell you
The how and the why
But you won't understand it no matter how you try

So your mouth's hanging open
But the conversation's closed
Once silence was golden but now it's imposed
Your heart will run circles
And you'll beat yourself up
But don't swallow too much when you're drinking from that cup
It's just that it's over
And there's nothing to do
You'll probably feel better when you realize it's true
And that's gonna happen
There's no way around
That bell's gonna ring though it won't be a pretty sound

You'll carry her with you
'Cause she can't be returned
It feels like confusion but something's always learned
So maybe the next time
Thought you're not aware
She'll help you get higher when you climb your lover's stairs
So it's okay you're reaching
Go on and touch
The worst that can happen is your world will blow up
And you can survive this
You're stronger than you know
Sometimes love gets lost and that's just how it goes
That's just how it goes
That's just how it goes
